

Kick the Polar Vortex with These 5 Hot Chocolate Cocktail Recipes

If all the street talk is true and we are indeed in store for another damn polar vortex, then let's do it right. By right, we mean a fireplace, someone to cozy up with, and a cocktail that will help us forget how frightful it is outdoors. Naturally, that cocktail's gotta be warm and for the endorphins we need to fight the little sunlight, it has to have chocolate too. We searched for the best of the best in vortex cures and here's what we found.

4. Eggnog Ginger Fizz from Big 4 Restaurant

3 oz. Eggnog

2 oz. Fever-Tree Ginger Beer

1 oz. Captain Morgan Black rum

1 oz. Sailor Jerry Spiced rum

Take egg nog, plus the rums, and shake in a mixer with ice. Add the ginger beer to the mixture, then strain into a collins glass

Note:

To finish, sprinkle fresh ground nutmeg atop the beverage.

